

NEW PUBLICATION
APRIL
2008

A Wellie Full of Water

Chris Sandford

Since its establishment in 1994 the Medlar Press has gained an enviable reputation for the publication of some of the finest fishing books in the world. These editions - of both classic and modern titles - reflect the growing revival of traditional angling values and a new vision of angling for the future.

All Medlar books are individually designed and printed on high grade book paper in the United Kingdom.

The Medlar Press, publishers of fine angling books, is pleased to announce the publication of

A Wellie Full of Water

Chris Sandford has fished since he was a boy, originally for chub and perch on the river Mole in Surrey, but in recent years has fished around the world for anything that swims. A Wellie Full of Water is an entertaining collection of tales from his angling adventures. There are pike in the Trossachs, lake trout in the Yukon and massive carp from the Massif Central. There are shaggy fish stories, and from the bizarre world of vintage tackle collecting there's the Totally Tasteless Teapot, the cross-dressing fishing reel and some beautiful backsides. And if that wasn't enough he's 'moused' for leopards, baited-up from a water-bike and suffers the indignity of a wife that always catches bigger fish than he does.

Chris has twice been awarded Humorous Angling Writer of the Year for his articles in Waterlog magazine, on which this book is based.

Available direct online or by mail order from the Medlar Press.
Call on 01691 623225 or visit www.medlarpress.com

ISBN: 978-1-899600-78-6

Extent: 144pp

Available cased with dust-jacket. Printed in full colour throughout.

Price : Cased £18.00 plus P&P (Available now.)

For further details
please contact:

THE MEDLAR PRESS,
THE GRANGE, ELLESMERE,
SHROPSHIRE,
SY12 9DE,
ENGLAND.

Telephone 01691 623225
books@medlarpress.com

www.medlarpress.com